TOY8 Company and Product Information

TOY EIGHT is an AI-backed Edutech startup from Japan. With the mission to create a world where everyone can unleash their talents, TOY EIGHT develops products to uncover children's natural-born talent and maximize their learning. Currently, TOY EIGHT has developed an AI-based Screening (launched in March 2022) under the tagline "Democratising Developmental Screening for Preschoolers," which can be conducted with a single smartphone device.

This project aims to make developmental screening affordable and accessible and to improve the understanding of child developmental levels in different communities and areas in a timely manner. The screening is expected to be carried out over a wider area, allowing a standardized norm to be established for child development.

The smartphone screening experience analyses children at play to understand their characteristics and strengths. This is a joint industry-academia project in Malaysia to address socio-educational issues in Southeast Asia.

TOY8 is working to implement this screening programme together with

- University Malaya
- Sunway University
- Malaysian Association of Kindergartens (Persatuan Tadika Malaysia)
